Supervisors by District ?

Hill People to Decide Proposal

For Potrero Hill residents who wish to be represented on the Board of Supervisors through district elections, a hearing will be held on Wednesday, March 10, at the Neighborhood House, co-sponsored by the Citizens for District Elections.

Throughout its history, the S. F. Board of Supervisors has been elected by various forms of district and city-wide representation. It has been elected on an at-large basis since 1901 when the Phelan plan, so-called reform program sponsored by business interests, took effect.

Some corrupt, and also some honest individuals have been elected under both at-large and district elections plans. The quality and effectiveness of the Board has always depended, however, not on the election plan, but on how honestly the Board represented the interests of all San Francisco.

The at-large system in recent years has enabled our present Board of Supervisors to ignore the interests of most San Franciscans. No community challenger has been able to win in costly city-wide elections under the at-large system, which enables incumbents to seek the support of downtown business interests who can pay for their election campaigns.

A district election movement has been growing in S. F. since 1970 when the Citizens for Representative Government was formed and an eleven district plan with distinct boundaries based on the neighborhoods of the city drawn up and ratified by representatives from city-wide organizations.

In 1975 a petition campaign to place the 11 district plan on the ballot corralled 54,000 signatures, qualified for but was defeated in the November election. In June 1975, a larger base of people planned a Community Congress, which adopted a resolution calling for election of supervisors by district. The Congress recognized that, if district elections is to benefit all of the city's communities, it should be planned and carried out in an open manner, so that all could participate. With this in mind, the Community Congress called for an open process of meetings and hearings in all communities, to determine how many districts there should be and how the lines should be drawn with the aim of putting the issue on the Nov. 1976 ballot.

An initial hearing to talk about the Potrero Hill district will take place on Wednesday, March 10, 7:30 p.m., at the Neighborhood House, 953 DeHaro St. Co-sponsors of the hearing are Potrero Hill Neighborhood House; P. L. A. N.; Potrero Hill Community Government, Potrero Hill Civic Improvement Assn.; Mississippi House; and the POTRERO VIEW.

All interested individuals and organizations are urged to attend this hearing.

Pollution Issues - Meeting Theme American Issues Topic

"America in the World," the American Issues Forum theme for March, will bring Paul Brand of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to speak at the Neighborhood House, March 26.

Brand, Information Officer at BAPCD, will discuss pollution problems and solutions throughout the world.

A Londoner by birth, Brand's background in this field has been through work with oil and refinery companies and enforcement divisions of Pollution Control Districts. He is also affiliated with conservation groups the Sierra Club and the Oceanic Society.

Brand will speak at the monthly community dinner meeting sponsored by the Potrero Hill Neighborhood House, 953 DeHaro St., Friday, March 26, at 7 p.m.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m., with an asking donation of 75¢. Those interested in attending the meeting portion of the evening can come at 7 p.m.

Greening Of Potrero Hill

The Community Gardens will start their Spring Seminar Sunday, March 7, at San Bruno and 20th Sts, 12 to 3 p.m., and at Arkansas and 22nd Streets 3:30 to 6 p.m. Seminars will include facts about Urban Gardens and Food Production, composting, and the values of herbs. Seed and tools are available. All are welcome.

The Community Garden at San Bruno and 20th St. has received a Neighborhood Beautification grant for $2,000. This will allow for the fence to be completed, a small greenhouse for plant reproduction, a space for tables and benches to enjoy the vista view, and a succulent garden display along with the large vegetable garden area. This garden is the work of over 160 students from Patrick Henry School and people living in the neighborhood.

The community gardens are open for anyone interested in growing fresh vegetables, along with others in your community. For information leave your name and number at the Potrero Hill Neighborhood House for Community Gardener Robert Lopez.

Students at the Daniel Webster School were entertained by a Chinese community cultural group who performed a traditional lion dance.

Daniel Webster Hosts Chinese Festival

As a prelude to the Chinese New Year celebrations, the Mah Keung School of Chinatown entertained students at Daniel Webster School last month.

Invited by Carolyn Wong, K-1 teacher at Daniel Webster, the Wah Keung (means "strong Chinese") group performed the traditional Lion dance to the wild delight of the Webster students and teachers.

The Keung school teaches Chinese culture, the dances, tai chi, kung fu and others, and has demonstrated this heritage at schools throughout the city.

Yolanda Garfias Woo, Multicultural Coordinator of the S. F. Unified School District, and moderator at the performance, stated that "bringing these modified versions of dances, movements, etc., is educational to multi-ethnic groups, and a better way of understanding each other... through culture."

Co-op Nursery with Credits

"The school provides the feeling of extended family..."

"Since he's been here, my child's language has improved and his confidence and security in himself:

"Mi hijo aprende mejor el Ingles."

"Mi hija hera muy timida y le tenia miedo ir a la escuela pero ahora esta lista para Kidergarten."

"It's easier for me to handle my problems at home now. I seem to have more tools."

"Yo como madre he aprendido a convivir con personas de otra cultura."

The statements were written by parents with children in the 25 year old Mission Cooperative Nursery School, located in the Mission. It is unique because it depends upon parent involvement in order to run. As a result of the involvement, parents and the entire family gain as much as the children from the experience..

Mission Co-op is both a nursery school and a course in Parent Education given by S.F. Community College.

(The nursery school operates from 9 a.m. to 12 noon daily and is structured so that one parent per family participates in the school one morning each week and attends a weekly Tuesday night meeting.

Participating parents receive credit from S.F. Community College for the course in Parent Education. S.F. Community College provides the director. Effie Schwarzschild who, along with the assistant teacher, Susan Koenig, coordinated the nursery school program and provides consultation to parents and students.

The school is located at 1292 Potrero near 25th St. It costs $25 per month. Applications for the Spring Semester may be obtained by calling 824-9445.

Neighborhood Panel Seeks Input

The Potrero Hill Mental Health Advisory Board, and the Potrero Hill Counseling Center will hold a community meeting to discuss moving to a more centrally located site.

A house, flat or other facility near good public transportation is desirable. All interested community people are asked to come and share their ideas. The meeting will be held at the Potrero Hill Library, 1616 - 20th Street, Tuesday, March 9, 6:30 p.m.

For more information contact Rahemah 558-5338.

MARCH STAFF:

Chris Ammen, Sharie Berliant, Phyllis DePriest, Pat Devine, Sharon Gail, Jon Greenberg, Bob Hayes, Peggy Ohta, Ruth Passen, Brenda Reineccius, Maya R. Zelaya, Sally Taylor.

Editorial and policy decisions are made collectively by the staff. Membership is open to any Hill resident willing to work. All staff positions are voluntary.

THE POTRERO VIEW is printed at Garrett Press, a union shop.

Do You Love Us?

To you, dear reader, goes this anguished plea: Give us a donation - a token that you care, really care about the continued life of your community newspaper.

For over five years Potrero Hill has had the unique distinction of claiming the only completely volunteer, free monthly newspaper. We have given you quality work, be it reporting, reviewing, photographs or ad work.

Those of us lucky enough to be employed spend hours of our "free" time giving life to this newspaper. The unemployed members of our staff, when not engaged in job seeking, do likewise.

We stress the volunteer nature of the VIEW's endeavor because many people refuse to believe that we actually do this work for nothing. Well, we do, and we carry the financial load of this paper when the ads aren't enough to support the commercial printing press cost.

What we ask of you is a remittance to help carry us through the rough times, which will also let us know that you are willing to support your own newspaper with dollars and letters.

PLEASE HELP - DON'T WAIT - SEND A DOLLAR OR MORE NOW!

Council Seeks Advice

Editor:

We, the Potrero Hill Health Advisory Council, look forward to your participation at our meetings. We will be holding our meetings at the Health Center's Conference Room.

We would like for our interested citizens to help the advisory council assist with whatever problems that you may have. The advisory council has 14 members, all residents of the Potrero Hill Community. The findings and the conclusions put forth in the Health Center are of primary importance with your consideration as the consumers of our community. A large measure of your participation is important.

We look forward to seeing our health center grow. Won't you please join us in our joint efforts to further plant the seeds of the future bloomings.

Meetings are held the third Wednesday of each month. See you at our next meeting Wednesday, March 17, 1976 at 7:00 p.m., 1050 Wisconsin Street, the Caleb G. Clark Potrero Hill Health Center

Busted, Disgusted Can't Be Trusted Troupe Coming — Woody Guthrie Story

The Busted, Disgusted and Can't be Trusted Troupe will present its tribute to the late Woody Guthrie with a week-end of music, poetry, drama, singing and a hootenany, at the Julian Theatre, March 26 and 27, and April 2 and 3.

Music Director Lenny Anderson, a Hill resident, has promised a very entertaining event, with music and words provided from the song of Woody Guthrie. "It is a dramatic performance of selections from the works of Guthrie, his songs, novels, poems, articles, essays, sayings and recordings."

The Troupe, a recently assembled non-commercial, non-profit group, "is interested in sharing our enthusiasm for the spirit and accomplishments of Woody Guthrie. We are interested in introducing Woody's work to new audiences. We want to keep alive in our work the Woody Guthrie spirit of helping other people... and to pay tribute to a great American in our American Bi-Centennial."

Jenny Stamm, also a resident of Potrero Hill, is another member of this cast, and with Anderson, has appeared in concert in the Bay Area and on KQED's Open Studio.

Proceeds from these performances will go to the Woody Guthrie Tribute Fund. Show time is 8 p.m. Donation at the door, $2.00. The Julian Theatre is located at 953 DeHaro St., S.F.

Genet's "The Maids"

The Julian Theatre of San Francisco begins its March schedule with a new production of Jean Genet's "The Maids" for two performances only, Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6 at 8:30 p.m., with pre-show performances by The Pointless Sisters, at 953 DeHaro St.

Directed by Alma Becker. "The Maids" features Lynn Butler, Gail Bohenek and Douglas Gower as the two maid-servants and their mistress who exchange roles pursuing a bizarre game of power. Genet's play explores through character transformations the working classes and their masters and the exercise of political, sexual and psychological power.

The set will be designed by Linda Hauswirth and lighting by Jim Dirscoll.

Preceding "The Maids" at each performance will be the San Francisco singing group, the Pointless Sisters, with their unique brand of musical fun. For further information, call 647-8098. Donation: $2.00.

Commercial Studio Opens

A new studio opened on the eastern edge of Potrero Hill, Saturday night, February 14, as artist, designer and builder Roy Vinson threw an opening night party to show off his new digs and invite local folks in for a visit and a look around.

An affable man in his early middle years, Vinson was associated with the SF Art Institute from the mid-60's until 1972, first as a graduate student and later as the Institute's studio builder.

It is this latter capacity that the new studio is designed to serve: Vinson specializes in providing canvasses stretched across custom framing for easel artists, in preparing finished works for shipment, and in offering a variety of services that assist the serious artist in developing the physical medium necessary for the expression of his or her work. These services include custom painting grounds, stretcher bars, restretching paintings, functional studio equipment, light banks, and so forth.

For more information, visit the studio at 602 - 20th St., or call 431-5654.

For more information call 648-1415.

CULTURE

"Peter Pan" Swung!

The opening night of "Peter Pan" at the Julian Theatre in early February was full of volts of high energy in the audience which sent the play off to a rollicking start.

Peter Pan, the legendary boy who never wanted to grow up, was back with his friend Tinker-Belle, to star in his own rock musical. Peter and friends took the audience via "fairy dust" to a far away place called Never Never Rock Land -- The land of glitter and magic which had the biggest rock palace in the world.

The plot and counterplots involved Peter, Tinker-Belle, V.D. the Pirate Queen, groupies, and various other sundry characters. It was an amusing farce intertwined with some good lyrical presentations. The show featured Les Nickettes, who were also responsible for the book and lyrics, and was directed by Martin Worman with music by Richard Burnley.

If you have a chance to see Les Nickettes in the future, try to do so for they put on a fun evening,

Latino Showings

The Mexican Museum invites the public to attend the opening of new exhibitions: Works by Mexican graphic artist, Juan Manuel de la Rosa; San Francisco painter, Robert Gonzales; and a rare collection of textiles and costumes from Oaxaca and other regions in Mexico.

This exhibit will run through April 25, 1976. The Mexican Museum is located at 1855 Folsom St. (Cor. 15th and Folsom Sts.), San Francisco.

"Peyote"

A special showing of movies dealing with Mexican and Navajo Indians will be featured on March 12 at the Neighborhood House.

"Peyote Hunt of the Huichols of Mexico," documenting the annual peyote hunt and ceremonies of the Huichol Indians of western Mexico, was a project of the UCLA School of Film.

A short movie about Navajo Indians, and a Mickey Mouse cartoon will round out the film fare.

Sponsored by Tilyou Productions, donations at the door will be $1.50. There will be two showings at 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Location is 953 De Haro Street.

Boys Needed

The Potrero Hill Counselling Center is interested in reaching boys between the ages of 10 and 15 years, living with a single parent.

Their objective in this endeavor is to form a club, with the overall aim of helping these boys achieve a better understanding of the community in which they live; to visit other communities and other people; to learn what their role is in a changing world; to learn and accept responsibility for themselves; and how to be a better person.

Parents will be asked to participate.

For further information call the Center at 558-5335, and ask for Ed Reid, Dwight Johns or Will Martinez.
